When not conducting classes or hosting events, I am always trying out new concepts to enhance my crafting skills and increasing portfolio lineup. My passion for hobby crafts have been burning for over a decade.

In nutshell, I always challenge myself and deliver crafts that suit different age groups and budgets. I hope that through my sessions, I could help to build confidence and creativities in every person as well as to release stress, to bring out the artistic side of participants, and promote bonding with the community where possible. It would be obvious that I value and treasure the participants, as I see them as unique individuals regardless of age.

The skills and experiences garnered from the many collaborations over the years has gained Hobbycrafters the trust from various public and private organisations. I am flexible with repertoire and willing to accept customized requests and work within the set budget and timeline.

In Hobbycrafterz, I believe that craft can be both therapeutic and artistic and is good for all ages.

And I am always guided by this simple saying: "If you think you can, YOU CAN!"
