

FRIEND OF LABOUR

Andrew Chong

Director, Board of Directors, e2i (Employment and Employability Institute)
Director, Board of Directors, NTUC Health Co-operative Limited

Jointly nominated by the Singapore Labour Foundation and NTUC Health Co-operative Limited

As Board Director of e2i (Employment and Employability Institute) since 2016, Andrew Chong has provided e2i with valuable guidance to navigate the challenges of a fast-changing employment landscape and economic situation. Especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, he pushed for a greater presence of employment facilitation to allow the organisation to serve more workers.

Brother Andrew was appointed Chairman of e2i's Audit and Risk Committee in 2017. His leadership, expertise and advice helped e2i to strike a careful balance between increased regulatory compliance and the push for better worker outcomes. He also played a pivotal role in further strengthening e2i's corporate governance and the integrity of its internal controls and processes.

Since 2017, Brother Andrew has been on the board of NTUC Health, an NTUC social enterprise that provides a range of quality and affordable health and eldercare services. He provided valuable inputs from his industry experience to help steer the organisation towards a more sustainable future and enhanced NTUC Health's partnerships with institutes of higher learning.

As Member of the Board's Audit and Risk Committee, he helped to oversee and review the adequacy and effectiveness of NTUC Health's risk management initiatives. As part of the Human Resource Committee, he has contributed significantly to steering the development of NTUC Health's People strategy and inspired a shared vision to nurture and grow future health and community care leaders.
