MODEL WORKER

Ng Moy Siang

Production Planner

Safety Committee Risk Assessment Team Leader

ETLA Limited

Nominated by the Advanced Manufacturing Employees' Union

Ng Moy Siang joined ETLA Limited in 2003 as an Assistant QA Supervisor and was promoted to QA Supervisor in 2006. She later transitioned to a new role as a Production Planner, where she continues to contribute to the company. In 2010, she became a union member of the Advanced Manufacturing Employees' Union (formerly known as the Metal Industries Workers' Union) and was elected Chairman of ETLA's branch committee in 2016.

Beyond her leadership role, Sister Moy Siang serves as an Internal Auditor, ensuring the Union's financial accounts are properly audited and certified each month. She is deeply committed to advocating for her fellow workers, actively pushing for improvements during every Collective Agreement negotiation. Known for her friendly and approachable nature, colleagues often turn to her for guidance and support, and she is always willing to lend a helping hand.

Despite her senior age, Sister Moy Siang exemplifies lifelong learning and adaptability. She completed a Risk Assessment course in 2023 and currently leads her company's Safety Committee Risk Assessment Team. At a recent Branch Officials Engagement organised by the Union, she was introduced to ChatGPT and expressed keen interest in learning how to leverage it for greater efficiency and productivity at work.
