Lee Ah Mooi Old Age Home

Nominated by the Healthcare Services Employees' Union.

Lee Ah Mooi Old Age Home has consistently demonstrated its commitment as a strong and progressive management partner of the Healthcare Services Employees' Union. By actively supporting HSEU's initiatives, the organisation has significantly contributed to fostering a collaborative labour-management relationship that benefits its employees and the community care sector.

Regular collaboration with HSEU for engagement and membership recruitment sessions highlights the company's dedication to promoting union membership and amplifying the voices of its workforce.

Further showcasing its commitment to social responsibility, the company partnered with ALPS Healthcare, another unionised company under HSEU, to launch a Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) programme. This initiative allowed ALPS Healthcare staff to volunteer at the Nursing Home, fostering empathy and engagement across organisations.

The nursing home also prioritises the welfare and professional growth of its employees. By fully subsidising union membership fees, it ensures that all staff have access to the extensive benefits and protections offered by HSEU, reinforcing its commitment to enhancing employee welfare and security.

In a groundbreaking effort to promote meaningful employment opportunities, the nursing home collaborated with HSEU to organise a learning journey for public servants under the Community Care Induction Programme (CCIP). This initiative enriched participants' understanding of the challenges and rewards of working in the community care sector, inspiring them to consider second careers in this vital field post-retirement. By connecting public servants with the Healthcare Academy's specialised training courses and job placement opportunities, Lee Ah Mooi Old Age Home has played a pivotal role in strengthening the talent pipeline for community care organisations.
